DISCUSSION AND POSSIBLE ACTION (ITEM 5)

5. Fiscal Year 2025-26 Bioscience Healthcare Strategic Initiative

Community and Economic Development Deputy Director Nathan Wright and Program Manager Claudia Whitehead presented the Fiscal Year 2025-26 Bioscience Healthcare Strategic Initiative.

Councilwoman Stark noted that Phoenix had gained a strong recognition in the bioscience industry internationally. Councilwoman Stark voiced her support for this item.

Councilwoman Pastor expressed interest in whether the MindCrowd study could expand to explore how neurodivergent brains in youth, such as those with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) or Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD), develop over time. She emphasized supporting associations are essential to advancing research needed to proactively address and combat the diseases we face today.

Vice Mayor O'Brien thanked Nathan Wright and Claudia Whitehead for their presentation, and she expressed her support for this item.

Vice Mayor O'Brien highlighted Arizona's rapid growth in the life sciences sector, noting it now ranks second in the nation for job growth in the field and eighth for the economic impact of clinical trials. She noted that roughly 80 percent of the state's clinical trials take place in Phoenix, where groundbreaking treatments are being developed. Vice Mayor O'Brien emphasized the importance of continued global engagement, such as participation in BIO and BIO International, to maintain Phoenix's competitive edge and attract high-paying bioscience jobs.

Vice Mayor O'Brien made a motion to approve the item. Councilwoman Pastor seconded the motion which passed unanimously, 3-0.

CALL TO THE PUBLIC

None.

FUTURE AGENDA ITEMS

Councilwoman Stark suggested an update on the activities of the Sister Cities program, including potential plans to establish new sister cities in Africa. Councilwoman Stark noted TSMC as one of the most significant success stories but highlighted that many other initiatives were helping to raise Phoenix's international profile.

ADJOURNMENT

Chairwoman O'Brien adjourned the meeting at 10:38 a.m.

Respectfully submitted,
