Introduction and Background

The Phoenix City Council established the Phoenix Office of Arts and Culture Public Art Program in 1986 to help create a more beautiful and vibrant city. The program is funded through an ordinance that allocates one percent of the Phoenix Capital Improvement Program to enhance the design of public buildings, infrastructure and spaces. In the past 33 years, it has created more than 190 major projects and become a national leader in developing unique collaborations with artists and other design professionals to build a better Phoenix. The projects range from new airport facilities, parks, community centers and canal trails, to bridges, streetscapes, overpasses, transit centers, recycling centers, and other key infrastructure.

Phoenix public art has garnered numerous awards for design excellence, including two Design for Transportation Awards from the U.S. Department of Transportation and the National Endowment for the Arts, numerous Arizona Forward Environmental Excellence Awards, including the 2001 President's Award, and other local and national recognition. The Public Art Program has brought positive national and international media attention to the City of Phoenix through articles in The New York Times, Newsweek, The Wall Street Journal, Art in America, The Atlantic Monthly, and Landscape Architecture, among others.

Each year, the Phoenix Office of Arts and Culture works with funding City departments and the Mayor and City Council to develop the annual Public Art Plan that identifies capital improvement projects in all areas of Phoenix that offer the greatest opportunity for artist involvement and public accessibility. The plan is presented to the Mayor and City Council for review and approval. The total budget for each project includes funds to contract for design, fabrication, installation and project administration. Art projects, like other public works, are funded in part through City-issued bonds and other capital improvement funds. The projects are scheduled to be in step with priorities in the City's CIP program.

Artists are recommended for projects through a competitive procurement process that involves selection panels of arts professionals, staff from the funding City departments and representatives of the community where public art projects will be located. Project architects and City staff may serve as non-voting advisors to the panel. The panels review applications usually submitted in response to a Call to Artists. The selection panels base their recommendations on the quality of the artists' works, their suitability for the project, and their ability to work well with the community and other design professionals. The panel's recommendation must be reviewed by the Phoenix Arts and Culture Commission, a volunteer citizen advisory board, and approved by the Mayor and City Council before artists can be contracted to begin work.

The FY 2019-24 Public Art Project Plan includes the following types of public art projects:

The Phoenix Office of Arts and Culture has developed the FY 2019-24 Public Art Plan with input and assistance from the Mayor and City Council, City residents, artists, funding City departments, and the Phoenix Arts and Culture Commission.

1. Design Team Projects

Artists on design teams collaborate with architects, landscape architects, engineers and community members to plan major capital construction projects. Design team projects often create significant enhancements for new infrastructure, stand-alone structures fabricated by the artist, or both.

2. Site-Specific Commissions

These projects often respond to the opportunities and history of a community or place. Site-specific commissions may be incorporated into new construction or existing public facilities.

3. Purchase of Existing Artwork

The City maintains an extensive portable works collection of more than 1,000 works of art displayed in more than 20 public buildings and at The Gallery @ City Hall.

4. Temporary Commissions

Temporary commissions include a range of short-term projects that provide professional development for artists and that respond to selected locations or opportunities. Temporary projects may include new media, art installations, sculptures and other changing displays.

5. Artwork Refurbishment

The City must periodically refurbish public art in the City's collection. Sometimes major modifications or retrofits are needed to accommodate changing site conditions or to renew the appearance of works that have been damaged by the elements. Major modifications funded through the City's Capital Improvement Program go beyond routine maintenance.

6. Master Planning

The City periodically develops master plans to determine the best opportunities for incorporating art into public projects. Master plans often recommend where specific projects or series of projects should be sited to achieve the greatest public benefit.

2018-19 Completed Public Art Projects

PSHIA T-3 Modernization South Concourse Bridge

Artist Teresa Villegas (AZ) designed the new terrazzo floor on the passenger bridge to Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport Terminal 3's new south concourse. The project was integrated into the design and construction of the Terminal 3 modernization.

PSHIA T-3 Modernization East Atrium Sculpture

Artist Donald Lipski (NY) created The Aviators for the Terminal 3 East Atrium at Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport. The artwork is a major landmark in the arrivals area.

2018-19 Completed Public Art Projects

16th Street Bethany Home Road Project

The artist team of Maria Salenger and Jones Studio (AZ) created new transit stops as part of Neighborhood Services Department community improvements at the intersection of 16th Street and Bethany Home Rd. Designs for the weather screens were inspired by the geometric patterns of the Mid-Century Modern block walls in the neighborhood.

Control Station 72

Artist Kevin Berry (AZ) worked with the engineering firm Brown/Caldwell to enhance the security and appearance of Control Station 72, at 47th Ave. and Pinnacle Peak Rd. The outline of the security fence was inspired by the nearby north Phoenix mountains.

2018-19 Completed Public Art Projects

PHSIA Terminal 3 Modernization West Plaza Sculpture

Artists Michael Anderson (AZ) and Patricia Sannit (AZ) created sculptures for the outdoor plaza on the west side of Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport Terminal 3. The art and desert landscaping were combined with other works in the Phoenix Airport Museum Collection to create an outdoor sculpture and botanical garden.

Community Well Site 157 Enhancement, at Edgemont Avenue and 55th Avenue

After

Artist Kevin Berry (AZ) and landscape architect Janet Waibel worked with the community to improve the security and appearance of a vacant city-owned lot with fencing, walking paths, shade trees and a sculptural landmark.

FY 2019-24 Public Art Project Plan Major Multi-Year Projects

Completion of the following projects will require significant funding resources over the next five fiscal years. Funding for the planning and implementation of these projects is included in the FY 2017-22 Public Art Plan. Funding of all projects is subject to City Council approval through future Public Art Plans.

Arterial Canal Crossings

Artist Michael Singer was contracted to work with the community, multiple City departments and Salt River Project to improve the safety and connectivity of major street and trail crossings along the Grand Canal through central Phoenix. The Grand Canal's improved trail system provides amenities such as seating and shade along a bicycle and pedestrian-friendly corridor linking neighborhoods and amenities in central Phoenix to landmarks such as Pueblo Grande Museum, Phoenix Sky Harbor and Valley Metro Light Rail.

Community Water Facilities

Artists Kevin Berry (AZ), Barbara Grygutis (AZ), Bobby Zokaite (AZ), Jeff Ziske (AZ), and Mary Shindell (AZ) have been contracted to work with the community and the Water Services Department to improve the security and appearances of community water facilities citywide. Other artists will be contracted for future well site projects.

Streetscape Shade and Mobility Improvements

Artists will be contracted to work with the community and City departments to enhance pedestrian and transit shade and connectivity. The enhancements will be coordinated with City efforts to reduce the impact of urban heat and improve mobility citywide.

Public Works Recycling and Sustainability Initiative

The Public Art Program has worked with the Public Works Department since 1990 to involve artists in the design of innovative recycling centers, and in building awareness of the need for recycling and sustainable resource management. Artists will be contracted to create artworks that expand educational outreach about recycling and bolster City efforts to increase recycling citywide. The Reimagine Phoenix initiative has set a goal of increasing the household diversion of trash to recycling from the current rate of 15 percent to 40 percent by 2020.

PSHIA Terminal Modernization, Sky Train Phase 2 Public Art, and Terminal 4 New Concourse Projects

Phoenix Sky Harbor International Airport future terminal modernizations represent the City's most significant opportunity to reach the widest public with great public art and integrated design. PSHIA handles more than 40 million passengers annually. Public Art staff is working with Aviation staff and its design teams to carry out a comprehensive plan to integrate significant art and design to enhance the experience of travelers. Projects will be implemented in step with the airport modernization phases.

Tres Rios Wetlands

Artist Adam Kuby has been contracted to work with City departments, consultants and the community to create significant environmental recreation and education opportunities at Tres Rios. This project is part of this multi-year effort to improve the seven-mile, 1,500-acre wetland at the confluence of the Salt and Gila Rivers in southwestern Phoenix.
